

Image courtesy of the Library of Congress

CONGRESS WEEK 2019

In commemoration of the Federal Congress establishing its first quorum in April of 1789, “Congress Week” is an annual celebration of the rich archival heritage of the United States Congress.

Women’s Suffrage Centennial

Image courtesy of the National Archives and Records Administration

Join us on April 5 to explore the documentary history of Congress’s role in passing the Nineteenth Amendment to the Constitution, which happened 100 years ago. Congressional archivists and historians will discuss how they use the primary sources of congressional archives to frame and enrich their suffrage centennial projects.

Image courtesy of the National Archives and Records Administration

Friday, April 5, 2019

12:05 p.m.

385 Russell Senate Office Bldg.

No registration required

For more information contact the Senate Historical Office at (202) 224-6900